Millennium Benefits Consulting Merges with BeneServe and Associates

BeneServe and Associates' President Scott Samuels and the Partners of Millennium Benefits Consulting, Inc., Angie Marchant and Keith Tallmadge, are pleased to announce the merger of their respective firms. This merger adds value and additional services to the combined client list.

Per Samuels, "in today's insurance employee benefit brokerage business, there is a need to add more services to meet client needs."

Millennium is pleased to bring Samuels on board and the team looks forward to providing the standard "high-touch" service to the larger book of business.

BeneServe, started in 1991, is an Atlanta-based benefit consulting firm. Scott Samuels brings over 30 years of employee benefit consulting experience to Millennium Benefits Consulting and will continue with his duties, but at a new location. The combined company, doing business at the Millennium Benefits office in Sandy Springs, will offer clients traditional employee benefit consulting, retirement planning, property and causality coverage, human resource outsourcing and other client-centered project work as needed.
